BASEBALL SALARIES COMING DOWN, VS LANNIN IN DUBST

Red Sox Owner Inmates End of "Fed" As Surety That Non-Conditions Will Be Refore. "Roasts" Dutch Board.

President Lannin, of the Boston American League club, who is in this city with his team, today predicted the salaries of ball players would show a great cut after the close of the present season. Lannin says he is not in favor of such an absurd proposition as fixing salaries now, as proposed by G. J. Herrmann, but he declares that those contracts handed to stars who now on their last year of the war-time contracts would call for greatly decreased salaries.

With the Federal League still at war with organized ball, the lowering of salaries would be impossible and while Lannin would not admit that he had expected baseball peace, his entire interview would leave no room for doubting that he expects the actions to get down shortly. Lannin did not say that decreased salaries "probably" would be the order, but stated that it "positively" would be, and that he players will be drawing salaries in proportion to their value instead of the present bank president incomes.

DISGUSTED WITH PLAYERS.

The Red Sox owner has generally been considered one of the few magnates who is in the game for the pleasure he derives from it, and he could go on paying large salaries for years to come, but he says he has become disgusted with the attitude of the players since the baseball war enabled them to use the Federal League to boost their salaries.

Lannin suspended Pitches Leonard, generally considered the best southpaw pitcher in either league, for failure to keep in condition. Leonard then gave out a statement to the effect that the Red Sox president was interfering with the management of the team, and that he had no chance for the team to win this year as long as Lannin owned the club. Lannin brands the statement as absurd, and declares that it is none of anybody's business if he did have a say, and that he is the owner of the club. Manager Carrigan is in full charge of the team, according to Lannin, and he predicts a pennant for the Red Sox.

MURPHY MAY ENTER PENN

Son of Great Track Coach May Join Red and Blue.

Philadelphia will be interested to learn that Charles Thorn Murphy, son of the late Mike Murphy, will enter either Pennsylvania or Yale upon graduation at Peddie Institute. He is now a Junior. Young Murphy would only give Yale preference over the fact that his home is in New Haven.

Cocher, of Pennsylvania, however, is a close friend of the family, and has nearly influenced the change.

Murphy is considered the best all-around athlete at Peddie, and has won laurels on many teams during his term.

Mr. Cocher sees great possibilities in his friend's son, who, in a way, has been taken over as his protégé and reason to see him with the squad of the Red and Blue.

ATHLETIC HEART IS A BUGABOO, WHICH IS TRUTH BECOMING KNOWN

Timid Fathers and Mothers Should Not Worry—To Locate a Cause Is Like Chasing That Myth, the Will-o'-the-Wisp—Dr. Lee, Harvard, Makes Interesting Statement.

That bugaboo, "athletic heart," which has made a faint heart out of thousands who otherwise would go in more strenuously in pastimes (unless it so happens that a friend, or a brother is an athlete and fathers only know what athletic heart means for, rather what it does not mean) they would probably end worrying. It is true an enlarged heart develops sometime, but when it does it may easily be traced to either carelessness or ignorance.

If a man is properly trained his heart will never cause one moment's trouble. It comes to the weaker boy who jumps into a sprint or other exercise untrained. In this instance the unusual tax upon the vital organ is too great and certainly too sudden to strain the delicate little valves. On the other hand, take the man who has been in athletics for years and have him undergo a physical examination and it will cause marvel at the strength of the heart beat. In contrast to the weaker man the athlete has trained conscientiously every time he has had a contest. The result is there in remarkable co-ordination of the bodily organs. One cannot expect to jump into athletic contests without having laid the foundation for it. The lungs, muscles and other necessary organs must be conditioned built up to the point where any unusual strain does not tear things loose. Proper athletic supervision is satisfying. Place your boy in the hands of some competent director and forever dispel the thought that he will be injured by participation in men's sports. Encourage him by expressing confidence in his ability.

If there is a competition on earth which would show heart strain it is in rowing. Here is what Dr. Roger J. Lee, of Harvard University, professor of hygiene, has discovered after a long examination of oarsmen:

"No evidence has been discovered," writes Doctor Lee, "in the study of this group of rowers, cases that would tend to show that the present system of intercollegiate rowing with a four-mile race, and a long preliminary training period causes any permanent injury to the heart, particularly as has been the case at Harvard, where only organically sound students are permitted to participate and are kept under medical supervision."

"Furthermore," says Doctor Lee, "rowing persisted in by college oarsmen for an average of more than five years after graduation fails to show that the size of the heart is affected."

Doctor Lee sounds the keynote of the whole matter when he says no one unless he is organically sound should be permitted to train. This should be the rule in every case.

Members of the Veteran Athletes' Association of this city will attest to the fact that they have never been inconvenienced by participation in athletic competition. Many of the men have attained a ripe old age.

NEW SECOND BASEMAN PLAYS FOR MACKMEN

"Mr. Ryan" Appears in Lajoie's Shoes for Morning Game at Shibe Park.

A sensational young infielder, under the plain name of "Mr. Ryan," suddenly appeared at second base for the Athletics in this morning's game against the Red Sox in place of Lajoie, who is still out with an injured foot. Nobody but Connie Mack knows where the youth hails from, and the only information he will give is that the new player's name is "Mr. Ryan" and that he will fill in temporarily at second base.

Apparently no one else on the team knows anything about the new second baseman. The general understanding is that he will fill in until Lajoie is able to return, and later will come back to the team without any secrecy as to his identity. Mack produced the youngster at Shibe Park this morning, introducing him to the other players as "Mr. Ryan." If he is to do anything else they will not admit it.

It is known that Mack left this city early yesterday on a train and was back before 6 o'clock. The last time he was seen was a mysterious stunt like this was in 1927, when he brought back Mr. Sullivan, who played shortstop for a week and then disappeared. Sullivan came back the following year and was thereafter known as Eddie Collins. Whether Ryan is another colleague who desires to hide his identity for a time, is not known, but the fans surely hope that it is another Eddie Collins.

TWO RACING EVENTS FOR LOCAL TRACKMEETS

Belmont Driving Park and Frankford Scenes of Two Big Meets—Many Entries.

Local race-goers will have two meets to choose from for their sport today. Forty entries will contest in the opening matinee of the season at the Belmont Driving Park, while at the Frankford Club a good card will be presented to trotting and pacing races.

The purse meetings at Freehold and Salem, N. J., have attracted several local horses. Plenty of interest is sure to develop at Freehold, for the $500 2:30 class trot will give the winning entry a standard mark. Most of the starters are good trotters without records.

Senator James P. McNichols's fast trotting stallion, Roy Miller, will contest in the 2:30 class, with Nick Grady, the Narberth, Pa., trainer, doing the driving.

The Lord Brook, b. s., trial of 2:22, the property of Joseph Klecker, of Bala, Pa., is also an entrant. Earl Pittman, the Trenton horseman, will hold the reins for him. Frank E. Masland, of Somerton, has Joker D. Lake also in this contest.

The racing at Salem will bring together a fine lot of horses. In the 2:15 trot and 2:30 pace, James Bell's Philadelphia trotter, Monte Ferris, 2:15; Bertha Foss, 2:35, owned by Abner S. Patrick, and Billy Fox's Glendora, 2:15; will score for the word besides the pacers, Roy Blue, 2:14; The Echo, 2:19; and King Wilkes, 2:15.

The matinee at the Belmont track, Narberth, will be held under the auspices of the North Penn Trotting Association.

A fine set of horses in the free-for-all trotting race is almost certain to be productive of some fast miles. The horses entered are Edgar N., record, 2:15; Fortnight, 2:15; Fast Tone, mark of 2:09; Strawberry, 2:13; and Millie W., 2:14.

REPLIES TO LEONARD CHARGE

As for interfering with Carrigan—that is a joke, and I guess it is my own affair if I want to run my own business to suit myself. Carrigan and I get along well, and we will be out in five or six short time. There are many other ball players just like Leonard, and they will all be brought to their senses in another year.

When he gets in shape I will restate him in proportion to the profits of the game, and he will get in shape when he is reinstated or he will get suspended again. That costs for business, and there is no other business where the employer will allow his men to draw pay when they are not fit to work.

COFFEY AND JIM FLYNN BATTLE IN NEW YORK

Star Pugilist Event to Be Held at Brighton Track.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The new-open boxing fans' long-cherished dream—"open" boxing—will be inaugurated at the Brighton Beach race track tonight, when Jim Coffey, the pride and hope of Erin, will tackle Jim Flynn, the most aggressive and punishing heavyweight in the world today.

As for interfering with Carrigan—that is a joke, and I guess it is my own affair if I want to run my own business to suit myself. CLOTHIER AND LARNED WIN OVER THE TILDENS

Pair Reaches Semifinals in Huntingdon Cup Play.

W. J. Clothier and W. A. Larned reached the semifinal round in the annual invitation doubles tennis tournament for the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., today, by defeating H. M. and W. T. Tilden, Jr., of Philadelphia, in a fast and well-contested match, by 2 sets to 0.

In the first set the winners had their work cut out for them, but eventually won out by six games to four, at least half of the games going to deuce.

Although Tilden and Tilden won both two games in the second set, they forced Clothier and Larned to top speed all the way through. The scores were 6-4, 5-2.

In the semifinal rounds Clothier and Larned opposed T. E. Pell and R. D. Little and J. J. Armstrong and W. E. Davis played Craig Biddle and Rowland Evans, Jr.

THE MYSTERIOUS MR. RYAN

A new face in the Athletics' line-up today was Ryan, who played a great hitting game at second. Who he is, whence he came and whether he is going only Connie Mack knows. The fans hope he is a second Eddie Collins.

SANDS IN THE LEAD FOR GOLF TROPHY

Merion Player Makes Great Score at St. Martin's for Patterson Cup.

ST. MARTIN'S, Pa., May 21.—Expert golfing weather and a fine field assured the success of the annual tournament for the Joseph Henry Patterson Memorial Cup here today.

With half the players in, Harold A. Sands, of the Merion Cricket Club, held the lead with the remarkably fine score of 74. He played almost perfect golf and his putting could not have been improved upon. The first half of the journey he completed in 33 strokes, but on the last half he did even better with but 35. His card was as follows:

Out 3 5 4 3 4 4 3 4 3-34
In 3 4 3 4 3 4 4 3 4-34
For a total time, J. T. Hunter, one of the home players, led the field with an altogether excellent 78. In the first nine holes he had three sixth, but coming in he played very fast and cut down his score on the previous nine by three strokes. C. H. Buxton held third place with 81, made up of a 41 and a 40.
